U.S. INTERVENES IN CUBAN DISPUTE

VICTORY OVER JEBY GIVES BROUILLARD WORLD FIGHT TITLE

Young French-Canadian Knocks Out Middle-weight Champion in Seventh Round of Bout at New York—Formerly Held Welterweight Crown—Bat Battalino Defeated

POLO GROUNDS, NEW YORK, Aug. 9 (AP).—A cool, barrel-chested young French-Canadian, native of St. Eugene, Quebec, lapping Lou Brouillard, caught up with Ben Jeby, stolid New York Hebrew, in the seventh round of a fifteen-round battle tonight, and stripped him of his claim to the middleweight championship with one rocketing sweep of his left hand.

Brouillard made a cold, calculating fight of it in adding Jeby's recognition here as the 160-pound king, to the honors he already has known as a former welterweight champion of the world.

For six rounds he chopped away at the steady-going, game young New Yorker, hailed as middleweight champion here.

RECOGNITION IN NEW YORK
The victory gives the young French-Canadian recognition here as ruler of the world's 160-pounders, but carries no weight with the National Boxing Association, which recognizes Gorilla Jones, of Akron, Ohio. Jeby never was recognized as champion outside of New York State.

Christopher (Bat) Battalino, of Hartford, Conn., former feather-weight champion, lost a close decision to Phil Raftery, New York, in an eight-round semi-final. The decision was unpopular.

ROUND ONE

ONE OF ARMADA PILOTS KILLED

Loses Life When Plane Overtakes — Rest of Fleet at Lisbon

LISBON, Portugal, Aug. 9 (AP).—Twenty-three seaplanes of the Italian trans-Atlantic air squadron, arrived here Wednesday afternoon, on the Azores where, on the departure early in the day, one of the ships overturned, resulting in the death of one member of its crew.

General Italo Balbo, leader of the expedition which now has crossed and recrossed the Atlantic, was in the first of three groups to descend on the River Tagus, his flagship settling on the water at 2:30 P.M. (8:30 a.m., P.S.T.) amid the cheers of a welcoming throng, which included many Italians.

LAID WRECKED SHIP
Three of the seaplanes had remained behind at Ponta Delgada, in the Azores, to care for the crew of the wrecked ship, but they were soon also on their way eastward and rejoined the main body at its moorings one hour and fifteen minutes later.

Lieutenant Enrico Squaglia, relief pilot of the plane commandeered by Captain Cato Ranieri, was drowned when his craft turned over in a take-off at Ponta Delgada. The captain and Radio Sergeant Alberto Boveri and Motor Sergeant Luigi Cremaschi were injured in the accident, but apparently not seriously.

GUARDS POSTED IN STATE OFFICE

Armed Men Ordered to Watch Over Kansas Treasury as Accountants Work

TOPEKA, Kans., Aug. 9 (AP).—National guard officers, wearing side arms, were posted in the office of Tom Boyd, state treasurer, today upon order of Governor Alf M. Langton as state accountants began an examination of records and bonds in the treasurer's office in connection with Kansas' sensational municipal bond forgery scandal.

It was disclosed yesterday there were $329,000 in forged bonds in the treasurer's vaults, deposited by three banks as security for state deposits.

KILLED IN COLLISION
STRATHMORE, Alta., Aug. 9 (CP).—Leona Bartlen, five-year-old daughter of Paul Bartlen, of Strathmore, was killed instantly today when thrown through the windshield of her father's auto as the machine collided with another car.

The father and driver of the other auto, Tom Fraser, of Strathmore, were injured slightly.

Lay Smoke Screen Over Tokio in Test

WHAT appears to be a huge conflagration is really a smoke screen laid over strategic points in Tokyo by the Japanese army, during recent aerial defence manoeuvres. The billowy clouds in the above photograph hover over important Government buildings. The test was pronounced a great success from a military viewpoint.

Drastic Changes in B.C. Lands Policy Necessary Says Hon. J. Hinchcliffe

Forty-Two Killed; Many Wounded in Fighting in Morocco

RABAT, Morocco, Aug. 9 (AP).—Furious hand-to-hand fighting, during which forty-two soldiers were killed battling dissidents at Djebel Babou, on Sunday, were reported in dispatches reaching Rabat today. Two officers and fifty-three soldiers were wounded.

The dissidents made a heavy surprise attack upon the troops who were cleaning out the region, but were driven off after an all-night struggle.

The dissidents fled, and the troops were continuing the cleaning-up movement, surrounding Djebel Babou from the north.

Four converging columns, each consisting of French and native infantry, cavalry, artillery, and a battalion of the Foreign Legion, as well as native partisans, for some months have been clearing out the last dissident strongholds in the Atlas Mountains.

De Valera Moves To Cut All Ties With the Crown

Three Bills Introduced Abolishing Vice-Regal Recommendations, Right of Veto and Appeal to Privy Council—Clash Between Free State Troops and O'Duffy Fascists Expected

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, Aug. 9 (CP).—Ireland's Parliament adjourned tonight, until September 27, when disorder greeted President Eamonn De Valera as he rose to close the debate, after introducing three bills, according to commentators, would virtually sever connection between the Irish Free State and the Crown.

WIDOW IS GIVEN PENSION AWARD

Benefit of Doubt Clause Brings Her $22,000 After Long Investigation

MONTREAL, Aug. 9 (CP).—Cancer contracted during overseas service which caused the death of Col. (Dr.) George Bourgeois, of Three Rivers, fourteen years ago, was the basis of an award of $22,000 to his widow handed down today by a pensions tribunal. The case was the subject of long investigation and argument and more than fifty witnesses were heard.

From the point of view of veterans' claims it is important, as it is an instance of the application of the "benefit of doubt" clause of the pensions law.

Counsel for the widow produced evidence to show the deceased had suffered from a throat affliction which, he claimed, was cancer although it was not diagnosed as such until 1919. The tribunal, giving the benefit of the doubt to the applicant, awarded the pension. The decision may be appealed.

ROOSEVELT DEMANDS PROMPT ENDING OF POLITICAL WARFARE

Presents Sharp Note to Minister — Meanwhile President Machado Declares Republic to Be in State of War—Avoids Answering Demand for His Resignation—Disorders Are Continuing

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9 (AP).—It was made known authoritatively, today, that the British Minister and Spanish Minister in Havana, both complained to American Ambassador Welles concerning the treatment of their citizens and the damage to foreign property, as a result of the striking and rioting in Cuba.

EXPECT SHOW OF METEORS

Showers of Tiny, Blazing Chips May Be Seen in Northeast Sky

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 9 (AP).—Tiny, blazing chips of the same sort of stuff which some astronomers believe hit the planet Saturn, recently, to meet its giant new white spot, will fly across the sky tomorrow night.

These chips are the annual shower of Perseids meteors. Their greatest profusion is due Friday, between midnight and dawn Saturday. But after midnight Thursday, Saturday and Sunday, where skies are clear, astronomers say they should be visible at the rate of ten or fifteen an hour. Friday night's hourly count may double this. They appear in the northeast sky.

CHIPS BLAZE INTENSELY
The Perseids are so small not one has been recorded as ever striking the earth. Astronomers reckon their sizes as ranging from that of wheat grains to peas or marbles. But these chips blaze so intensely they are easily visible at the sixty-mile altitude where they burn to dust.

By analysis of hundreds of fallen meteors picked up on earth, astronomers conclude the Perseids are bits of either stone or iron. One or the other of these substances comprises the bulk of each meteor so far found.

Iraq Army Overcomes Assyrians

LONDON, Aug. 9 (AP).—Fighting between Assyrian Christians, who crossed the Iraq frontier, and Iraq troops, has ended with the unconditional surrender of the Assyrians. It was said in an authoritative telegram from Iraq received today in London.

More than one hundred lives were lost over the week-end in the conflict.

NOT IN HIS HOURS

ALLERTON, Ill., Aug. 9 (CP).—Because of the R.A. and the President's blanket code, Justice of the Peace J. E. Moore refused to marry a couple at 3 a.m. the other morning. "I told them to come back during my regular office hours," he said.

Frenchmen Describe Flight Giving Them New Record of Air

High Rate of Fuel Consumption Prevented Considerably Longer Non-Stop Journey—Spirit of Former Comrades Urged Them On

RAYACK, Syria, Aug. 8 (By Wireless).—In a fifty-six-hour flight from New York to the airport here, in our monoplane, the Joseph Le Brix, we have beaten the world long distance record for a direct flight.

We hope our record will be confirmed at 9,200 kilometers (about 5,713 miles). But in reality we covered more than 10,000 kilometers (6,210 miles) in our flight from the United States to Syria. The old record was 5,130 miles, made by the British airmen, Gayford and Nicholson, in a flight from England to South Africa.

We hoped to reach the Persian Gulf, even Persia itself, but our high consumption rate of fuel, probably because of the speed of the motor during the bad weather off the American coast and because

Plenty of Tigers in Tiger Hunt Reported To Roving Reporter

Nova Scotian Dentist With Unerring Aim and Iron Nerve Credited With Three Before Break-fast, and More to Follow

By GORDON SINCLAIR

KODAIKANAL, South India.—Dr. Max Freeman, Nova Scotia dentist, finds himself in the hall of hunters' fame today as one of six men in all India who have shot and killed three tigers in a single morning.

And here is the story: Shouldering his way through ten miles of elephant grass, a crimson-turbaned messenger loped into this mountain town with a chit from the moonlight of Punbari, a village across the valley.

"Honored Sir: 'Tigers are driving our people mad. They roar around our homes at night and have killed seventy cattle within a month. Could you please come, sir, and help our people to drive these beasts away?'"

Freeman sure could. He'd been hunting and shooting at every chance he had since leaving Liverpool, N.S., twenty-three years ago, and this looked like big league stuff.

He picked up a rifle and shotgun, climbed into a wheezy old car and chuffed across the valley. A whole day was spent searching for spoor, kills, water holes or tell-tale marks by the river. Not a mark or a trace or a sound or a smell was seen. The village was peaceful and quiet as the neighbors of a missionary hill station should be. There didn't seem to be a tiger for miles.

At night, tired and fed up, Freeman went to the moonlight and asked what was the sense of bringing him out on a wild goose chase like this. "You must have imagined these tigers," he complained.

"But, sir, I am sorry. But will you look?" He led the way to a stone coveled and there, horribly mutilated, lay four dead cows and one still living, but mauled beyond hope.

"All this happened last night, sir, right in the stable."

Freeman went to the moonlight and asked what was the sense of bringing him out on a wild goose chase like this. "You must have imagined these tigers," he complained.

"All this happened last night, sir, right in the stable."

Well, that was certainly different; but Freeman couldn't spare another day. There were people's teeth to grind. He decided to put the one mutilated cow out of her misery, but the owner and the moonlight refused and whined. The cow might recover, so why kill her?

Back in the moonlight's house that night Freeman decided to pay $3.50 for the cow and put her out of pain. He was up in the morning by six, packed his gear for the ten mountain miles and stroled down to the coveled and there, three feet away, were two burning green eyes. Instantly the tiger sprang. All four feet were out to claw this invader to shreds.

Wham! The shotgun sang out, the tiger sprawled, then came on for Freeman, who jumped to a low stone wall. At that second another tiger, scooting out a back door in the grey gloom of dawn, ran smack into Freeman and almost sent him sprawling.

He sat down, still calm, smoked and waited for better light. When it came he got a rifle, held his breath and followed up with the shotgun and struck out after the bloody stream which marked the first victim's retreat. The blood led to a trickling brook where the other joined it. Then both trails led into a hillock of jungle.

Villagers meantime had come up with clubs, pitchforks, spears, stones and even crankhandles.

"Sir," the moonlight pleaded, "will you now stay? Our men will drive these tigers out. You will shoot them."

"Righto," the dentist agreed. "Strike up the band!"

OCCASION FOR REJOICING
The entire village went into uproar. They thumped pans, howled and shrieked, tossed rocks into the jungle, moaned and bellowed like hired mourners. Freeman sat on a rock facing the circle of fern and forest. Limping badly but roaring mad defiance to all the world, the first tiger came lashing out. Freeman waited the charge, stepped aside as the infuriated beast leaped for him, then pumped three shells into his back. The beast collapsed like he'd been hit by a train.

Freeman at once changed his seat. The uproar and tumult renewed and grew stronger. Like the first victim, the second came scuttling down the hill on the roaring run. He came straight for the place where Freeman had been sitting. Skilled hunter that he is, the Nova Scotian knew he'd do this. Too late the tiger discovered he was plunging toward nothing at all. By the time he checked and wheeled two shots had drilled his skull and he was dead as a clay pigeon.

Mad whoopee broke out among the villagers, who hoisted Freeman high in the air and screamed hosannas.

PARADE BROKE UP
They formed into a parade, strung the bleeding killers along poles and marched to the music of cymbals toward the temple. The tumult was terrific. In the midst of it a third tiger loped straight across the road and started up a slippery hill. Most of the time it was hidden in high fern. Freeman had one 25 cal. shell in his rifle. He let fly and the tiger leaped high in the air, clawed the ground, got up and started down toward the marchers with blood drooling from her lips.

These were by now in a frenzy of fury and triumph. They broke up the parade and rushed pell-mell toward the tigers, all ready to claw her apart with their hands.

"Stop it, you fools; come back. You'll all be killed," Freeman yelled. The villagers paid no attention. They raced and alliered up the damp hill with spears and clubs. The tigress stopped, slunk in among the ferns and lay down. The villagers rushed on. Freeman's bearer handed him a shotgun loaded with slugs, pieces of nails, bits of iron and stuff like that. He hurried up to be there for the first wild rush of the wounded beast.

Too late.

VICTIM NUMBER THREE
The tigress came out of the fern banks like a racing car and downed a coolie. Somehow the man wiggled free and rolled aside. The baffled beast slunk back to where she'd come from. The wounded man, fairly frothing at the mouth, went in after her with a bamboo pole, thought better of it and came rushing out again with the tigress after him.

"Drop!" Freeman ordered. The coolie collapsed. The tigress had sprung at that instant. She was right in the air when Freeman's slugs tore fatal holes through her white chest and made her "victim number three" in a single morning.

After the blue nose sniper had told this exciting story, I asked: "Doctor, I've been told the tigress is the most cunning, the most ferocious and the most fiendish of all jungle creatures. Much harder to trap or shoot than tiger, leopard, lion or anything else. Does that work out in your experience?"

"Yes, most definitely. There's been one killer tigress in these hills for five years and she's a holy terror. I've lain out for her night after night but never got her. Never even got a shot at her."

TIGRESSES MOST ELUSIVE
"One night a villager down the road here came up for me in trembling fury. His entire herd of five cattle had been ripped to shreds. That meant tigress, of course. No male kills wholesale. I could tell this tigress had cubs and was teaching them how to bring down game or, if they were very young, she was getting them fresh warm blood to drink. And the five-cow death was only a beginning."

"Well, sir, those cattle had been slaughtered in a coral. I parked myself on the roof of the shed overlooking the carcasses all night, but never got a shot at her. She simply came around, smelled me and vanished."

"Another time I was walking a mile from town when it started to pour rain. I hurried into a hut and soon two men on horseback came galloping by, saw my light and stopped. They tethered their horses right outside the door, came in for shelter, and hadn't been inside ten minutes before that same tigress dropped and disembowelled one horse, an took a swipe at the other. Oh, sure, the tigress is far, far the worst. And if she has whelps, look out!"

"The next story will be about Dr. Freeman, too."

"Stick 'em up, big boy!"

"Can't. Got rheumatics in my hands."

"C'm on. I got automatics in mine!"

"Buddy, you win."

CITY OUTFRIVALS SCOTCH BEAUTY

George Grant, of Banffshire, Is Charmed With Victoria's Gardens

The district surrounding Victoria has gardens of greater magnificence than Scotland, which is famed for its beauty spots, according to George Grant, of Banffshire, Scotland, who is visiting the city for a few days in the course of a tour of Canada and the United States.

Mr. Grant is proprietor of the Glenfarclas-Glenlivet Distillery. He is at present residing at the Dominion Hotel, and is accompanied on the trip by his wife, and two friends, Mrs. E. G. Ferguson and Miss Jean Scott.

In returning to Victoria after an absence of twenty-nine years, Mr. Grant was impressed with the beauty of the city and surrounding country, and was pleased with the hospitality which has been extended to his party while on Vancouver Island.

The party arrived in Canada on July 8, at Montreal, and has traveled by railroad across the Dominion, visiting Toronto, Winnipeg, Calgary, Banff, Lake Louise, Vernon and Vancouver. They will leave tomorrow by boat for Seattle, where they will board a train for Chicago. Following a week's visit to the Century of Progress Exposition, the party will go to Niagara Falls, thence to New York, from where, on August 26, they will sail for England.

Farmers in Scotland are facing the same problems as those of Canada, Mr. Grant explained. With no demand for grains or produce, the men in Scotland are leaving their farms and flocking to the cities, he said. He went on to explain, however, that better times are expected within the immediate future by business men and farmers alike.

"She's a jolly nice girl, but she has such a terribly inferiority complex."

The party arrived in Canada on July 8, at Montreal, and has traveled by railroad across the Dominion, visiting Toronto, Winnipeg, Calgary, Banff, Lake Louise, Vernon and Vancouver. They will leave tomorrow by boat for Seattle, where they will board a train for Chicago. Following a week's visit to the Century of Progress Exposition, the party will go to Niagara Falls, thence to New York, from where, on August 26, they will sail for England.

Farmers in Scotland are facing the same problems as those of Canada, Mr. Grant explained. With no demand for grains or produce, the men in Scotland are leaving their farms and flocking to the cities, he said. He went on to explain, however, that better times are expected within the immediate future by business men and farmers alike.

HEARING TO OPEN MONDAY

Banking and Currency Inquiry Will Sit at Court-house at 11 o'Clock

Arrangements for the public hearings of the Royal Commission on Banking and Currency here on Monday were announced yesterday by D. B. McConnan, assistant receiver-general for the Dominion, after conversations with Premier Tolmie and the Provincial Government. The Macmillan Inquiry will meet the British Columbia Cabinet at 10 a.m. Monday, and at 11 a.m. will open its public hearings in the Victoria Courthouse.

Individuals and organizations may appear before the commission, Mr. McConnan said, but they must first submit to its secretary a praecipe of the evidence that it is proposed to lay before that body. Formal announcement on behalf of the commission will appear in Friday's papers.

On Tuesday and Wednesday, August 15 and 16, the commission will sit in the Courthouse, at Vancouver, at times to be announced later. Members of the panel, under Baron Macmillan, will arrive on the afternoon boat on Sunday, when they will be welcomed by the Provincial Government.

Little Mabel came running in to her mother dragging Bobby, who showed signs of having come off worst in an encounter with a mosquito, after her.

"Oh, mummie, mummie, look!" she cried, the memory of a recent epidemic in her mind. "Bobbie's been bitten by a measle!"

DUAL OFFICES DRAW PROTEST

Counsel Contends Police Commissioner Not Qualified as Magistrate

VANCOUVER, Aug. 9 (CP).—Because he held office as police commissioner, Magistrate W. M. McKay was not qualified as a trial magistrate in the case of George Drayton, charged with obstructing police on August 1, Defence Counsel Gordon Grant contended in police court here today.

Magistrate McKay replied that he was satisfied he had legal status and ordered the trial to proceed.

Defence counsel advanced the contention when Assistant City Prosecutor Gordon Scott announced the Crown intended to proceed against Drayton by indictment.

GROUNDS OF INTEREST

Grant argued against this procedure and pressed for a summary trial. The magistrate, he contended, was disqualified from sitting on the case on "the grounds of interest," as he held dual offices of magistrate and police commissioner and the case was one that affected the credibility of the chief and deputy chief of police.

"I have been expecting this to come up," said Magistrate McKay, who went on to state he was fully satisfied as to his qualifications to preside at the trial. He also refused defence counsel's suggestion that he sit as a justice of the peace and take the case as a preliminary hearing.

FRENCHMEN DESCRIBE FLIGHT GIVING THEM NEW RECORD OF AIR

escape bad weather, turning in every direction and trying every device. The poor visibility made navigation extremely difficult, but we didn't make a mistake, for when we could take a point on Arcurus, we found we were exactly where we had calculated.

On the morning of the second day—that is to say, Sunday—we were certain we were on the right road. When we picked up the European coast northwest of Brest we found we were exactly right.

THE BIG THRILL
Then came Cherbourg, Paris, Le Bourget. That was our biggest thrill for, flying down to a thousand feet altitude, we could see easily our wives waving to us from out in front of a crowd of friends who came to greet us and wish us God-speed.

From Paris to Budapest, through the fresh, clear night, we slipped magnificent flight, enchanting and actually restful. There was a full moon and the motor hummed along through the cool air with the most encouraging regularity.

Then the clouds began to come again. We had to climb over them, and hour after hour we could see nothing of the earth which was slipping away below the wings of the Joseph le Brix. When we came down near the ground, we were southeast of the peninsula of Salonica.

RUN INTO HEAD WIND
We ran into a terrible head wind, whose gusts spared neither our machine nor us. During the whole of the third day—Monday—we were both very tired. We didn't like a moment's rest, for flying conditions were very bad and, after two days and two nights in the air, we had to strain every ounce of strength and attention to piloting our machine.

We began then to wonder where we could come down. This country is well known to both of us since we have both flown repeatedly between Greece and the Syrian Coast. We had both of us experienced difficulties there and we began to ask each other how much longer we could go on.

We found we were both thinking

SURE OF RECORD

Across the wide Atlantic, across the whole European continent and across the Aegean Sea in less than three days and two nights! We were sure then we had beaten the record, but we must make sure that it would be by a respectable margin. It was obviously impossible with the fuel consumption what it had been to push forward across the desert to the Persian Gulf as we had hoped, so we decided on Rayack. We both knew the landing ground and were sure that when we reached it we would have done what we set out to do. But we lost forty minutes finding it, for the visibility was very poor.

We had been in the air fifty-six hours and that last forty minutes seemed longer than all the rest. But it was worth it to come down here. As soon as we touched earth we were surrounded by friends. Col. Brule and Commandant Pelletier of the "Pivolo" of the Paris-Tokyo flight in 1924, were there to take us into their arms. All officers and men of the thirty-ninth Aviation Regiment turned out to greet us. What a welcome and what joy it was to celebrate among comrades our victory over time and space and this newest achievement in the quick progress of flight.

THOUGHT OF BERTROT

We thought then, as we thought many times during the flight, of Bertrot, who had flown from Joseph le Brix. It is only twenty-four years since he flew the English Channel and began the long history of successful trans-oceanic flights. Our motor had consumed 115 liters of gasoline per hour instead of the ninety-five which we had estimated. This undoubtedly was due to the great difficulties of our flight in bad weather and with repeated changes in altitude.

Drastic Changes in B.C. Lands Policy Necessary Says Hon. J. Hinchliffe

that condition. What was proposed now was not a blanket restriction of settlement, but discretionary use of the right to prohibit settlement in unwarranted places where there may be little hope of ultimate success. Basic changes in lands policy must await future legislation, but a definite set of recommendations are now being prepared to that end, Mr. Hinchliffe said.

Mr. Hinchliffe pointed to the findings of the Royal Commission on Agriculture which was appointed in 1912, and which made special reference to what it called foolish practices in the then lands policy of the Province, permitting industrial settlement far from the centres of population. This course, it said, engendered unnecessary costs in the provisions of schools, roads, policing and other services at widely separated points in isolated territory.

DISCRETIONARY CONTROL
A great deal of the existing lands policy would require legislation to alter, and he was not yet prepared to make recommendation as to what should be done, the minister continued. It was, however, within the discretion of the Minister of Lands to refuse to allow either pre-emption or purchase of lands for agricultural purposes where they appeared against public interest, or as likely to be devoid of success.

"The Government agrees with me that until we have had opportunity to examine the lands policy and decide how it can be improved, we should do what we can to stop industrial settlement on agricultural lands where there appears to be little chance of the success of such ventures. This, at least, will keep matters from becoming worse than they already are," Mr. Hinchliffe stated.

FACED IN AUSTRALIA
"Absolute freedom of selection without doubt is attractive to many for various reasons, leads to sparse wide-scattered settlements, with consequent expenditures for roads, bridges, schools, etc., out of proportion to the population served," the 1912 commission had reported. The commission also pointed out that in Australia and New Zealand this had been recognized, and that the Crown had even gone to the length of appropriating such lands to wind-up ill-considered settlement areas at isolated points.

All applications for pre-emption or purchase of lands pass through the hands of the Minister of Lands for approval. In future it is proposed to see that no application is granted unless in the discretion of the minister and his departmental aides such settlement is justified and likely to succeed. This will apply expressly to lands sought for agricultural purposes, and in all areas. The same power has been open to the Province for years, but has not been over-exercised.

AIM IS SETTLEMENT

"The real aim should be to get people on to agricultural lands who will eventually take them, and succeed in their business. It is equally as important to see that those already on the lands are given an opportunity of developing their holdings and making a success of their ventures," Mr. Hinchliffe continued.

"It is a question whether the Crown should give up the fee to agricultural lands, or whether the fee should make long-term leases of the land instead. I am not committing myself on any point yet, until I have had further opportunity to study what is involved," the minister said.

Pre-emptors and tract-holders in the past had secured lands in many cases solely for the purpose of turning them over at a profit, and without serious thought of developments, he said.

PROTECTIVE USE

"To my mind it is a question whether any individual has a right to make a profit out of the ownership of lands, other than on the basis of the improvement of the places on the land. All a man can do on agricultural land is to use it and make it productive, and he does not need the title for the purpose. So rental may have to be considered."

"There is also the question of terms, including the purchase price and interest now paid on the lands of the Province. It seems to me unfair to make a man pay interest on land that cost us nothing, and interest on principle is the backbone-breaking thing today."

WORKING CAPITAL

"A man with a sum of money now uses that to pay for the land, and often he has nothing left with which to develop it. What we need is a condition under which the terms will be so low that we can people the land with those who will stay there, and with funds to carry on."

"These are some of the thoughts passing through my mind, and I have not yet considered anything in detail. Our land policy will have to be revised before we can get people onto the land, and keep them there. If I have anything to do with it at the next session, I will make a start with legislation necessary to bring a more stable condition of affairs."

"All that we are going to do now is to restrict pre-emption or purchase for agricultural purposes on unsuitable lands. Later, when our plans are in shape, we will be prepared to set forth concrete proposals for the improvement of the land policy itself," Mr. Hinchliffe concluded.

mand that the President resign his office. The general strike existing in Cuba, the presidential decree asserting, has given "enemies of the public peace" an opportunity to create a revolutionary state in the country.

The state of war was declared to come into effect at 6 o'clock this evening and military units, which retired from Havana Monday night after disturbances in which twenty-one persons were killed, were ordered to return to the city to make the decree operative.

The decree was signed under authority granted the President by congress Monday, when it voted the suspension of constitutional guarantees throughout the island for thirty days.

QUESTION EVASIED

The Machado decree did not, on its face, answer the question of whether the President would quit his office or not. Calling attention to the strike situation which it said created "a difficult situation in all the aspects of civil life," the decree asserted: "The interest of the public peace demands the adoption of extraordinary means for the maintaining of order, for which the reconciliation procedure adopted by the Government have not been sufficient; nor have the means at the disposal of the civil authorities sufficed to prevent such disturbances."

GREAT delight was afforded to the little patients at the Solarium, the other day, when Frank Merryfield, Victoria magician, paid his annual visit to that health-restoring institution. Mr. Merryfield, who appeared under the auspices of the Moose Lodge, drew doves from his hat, produced guinea pigs and various other wonders from the air, and kept the little folk in roars of laughter and a state of wonderment. The kindly "Cornish Wizard" has been visiting the Solarium to amuse the children for the past eight years. Police authorities instituted extra precautions tonight. Meanwhile, the island's strike, which has upset completely Cuba's normal activities, continued unbroken. ### EXPECT SHOW OF METEORS

So the theory Saturn's new spot is a dust cloud bigger than the earth, made by impact with a meteor, sculpts that this big bump was made by the same sort of stone or iron that pelts the earth. Recently astronomers have found evidence the earth is continuously passing through two or three vast streams of meteoric dust particles, fires of which are too small to be seen without aid of telescopes. They are far smaller than the perseids and equally harmless. They are a new means of studying the mysteries of space.

In these studies, the public is asked to aid by counting the Perseid meteors on any or all of the next four nights. The unit of counting is the number seen in one hour by one person. The American Meteor Society requests that these counts, even if covering only one hour, be mailed to Dr. Charles P. Olivier, Flower Astronomical Society, Upper Darby, Penn. The counts should give the time and the place.

Famous Australian Horse to Make First Appearance in North-west at Longacres

LONGACRES RACE TRACK, Wash., Aug. 9.—A programme of eight or nine races, headed by the first running of the $10,000 Olympic Hotel Handicap, will usher in Sunday racing at this beautiful course. The opening date for Sunday racing is the coming Sunday, August 13, and the schedule provides for racing each Sunday thereafter. Hereafter there will be no racing on Mondays. ## NEW EXHIBITOR IS ANNOUNCED

Fir Ridge Guernsey Farm to Send Cattle—Early Entries Are Urged

The Fir Ridge Guernsey Farm, operated by Hart & Gammeltott, of Roy, Washington, will send a large entry of Guernsey cattle to the Willows Fair, September 11 to 16, it was announced yesterday by W. H. Mearns, secretary of the British Columbia Agricultural Association. "This is the second new entry to be received from Washington for the livestock show," Mr. Mearns stated. The secretary also announced that the Great Northern Railway would give the same excursion rates to Victoria from the interior of the province for the Willows Fair as the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways have agreed to give.

Through this arrangement the number of out-of-town visitors is expected to be considerably increased.

DOWNTOWN OFFICE

Mr. Mearns also announced that a downtown office would be opened later this month to receive last-minute entries, but urged that all exhibitors turn their entries in as soon as possible so as to lighten the task of the exhibition staff during the two weeks prior to the fair.

In this connection, he particularly urged that all entries for the Boys' and Girls' Livestock Club competitions be turned in early so that complete arrangements could be made for the boarding and lodging of the young competitors.

RECALL DAYS IN EASTERN CANADA

Bruce and Huron Old Boys' Association Holds First Outing at Gorge Park

There was a large gathering yesterday afternoon of former residents of the two Ontario counties of Bruce and Huron at the inauguration of the newly-organized society of the Old Boys of these two counties. The organization embraces not only the boys but also the girls from these counties. Assembling at the B.C. Electric Railway Company's park at the Gorge, the opportunity was afforded those attending to get acquainted before supper was served shortly before 6 o'clock.

Many from the same communities met for the first time since they had left the East, not knowing of the presence of one another in and about Victoria. Neil Pollock, president of the organization, presided at the program, which was given after the supper. He dwelt upon the importance of all who came from the two counties to affiliate themselves with the association in an effort to keep old acquaintanceship alive.

ADDRESSING GATHERING

Rev. F. W. McKinnon, who came from Glamis, Bruce County, was the principal speaker and in his short address which he designated as a basket of memories, he referred to the two flowers of Home and Character. In elaborating the subject, the speaker lauded the homes that were characteristic of the counties from which they came. Their ancestors in that country had carved out wonderful places and in this connection sterling character was developed. He said that he was facing in those before him real aristocrats who inherited a noble heritage from the men and women that laid the foundations of the prosperous country from which they came.

The programme was opened with the singing of "O Canada" and later under the leadership of James Dinmore, community singing was conducted. Pipe Major Donald Cameron was present with his bagpipes and contributed numbers. He also played for Scottish dancing in which Mary Peterson, the amateur champion of the Pacific Coast, and "Babe" Pollock took part. During the afternoon a programme of sports was held.

TRIBUNAL HEARS MORE EVIDENCE

The pensions tribunal with Col. C. W. Peck, V.C., D.S.O., and Capt. E. C. Mackenzie, presiding, continued its investigation yesterday into the applications before it, which covered all manner of experiences and included both naval and military cases.

In connection with the naval side of the inquiries, the absence of the records showing the history of the various applicants under that division was remarked upon. In the case of the one before the court yesterday, an adjournment was necessary in order to try and secure further data with regard to the applicant's history. Major Walter Barty, of Victoria, was a witness in the case of the applicant, testifying to the fact that the applicant who had been in good health at the time of enlistment, had been wounded several times and was now far from being in good shape.

The hearing of applications will be continued today.

UNDERSEA DRAMA NOW AT CAPITOL

Fay Wray Leads Excellent Cast in "Below the Sea"—Mystery Feature

One of those big melodramatic pictures with plenty of sweep and movement, playing for the first time today at the Capitol Theatre.

Briefly, the story has to do with a scientific expedition in tropical waters, backed by a spoiled young millionaire, portrayed by the lovely Fay Wray. Aboard her yacht is a former German submarine commander, who secretly is seeking not scientific specimens from the bottom of the ocean, but golden treasure that went down with his U-boat. This part is in the hands of a newcomer to the screen, Fredrik Vogeding, who is well known in Europe as a great stage actor.

Also seeking the gold is an American diver, Ralph Bellamy, a virile young screen and stage veteran of a hundred parts, portrays this individual. Esther Howard, likewise new to pictures, but of wide fame in musical comedy, is a third who is after the treasure, all unknown to the scientists. She plots with the German against the diver.

Adolphe Menjou, who created the role of Thatcher Colt in Columbia's "The Night Club Lady," returns to the screen as the added attraction in the second of the Anthony Abbot murder mysteries, "The Circus Queen Murder," with Greta Nissen in the role of the ill-fated performer.

Columbia Offers "King of Jazz"

"King of Jazz," the most gorgeous and melodic of all music pictures in color, has been re-cut, re-edited and re-shot in some particulars. The Columbia Theatre announces a special engagement of this remarkable product of the artistic genius of John Murray Anderson in a gala revival week.

The Universal studios have revived the most perfect picture ever made in Universal City. The great success which flooded the theatres and broadcast three years ago will once more captivate and delight this city. "It Happened in Monterey," by Mabel Wayne, and "Song of the Dawn," "Ragamuffin Romeo," "The Rhapsody in Blue," "A Bench in the Park" and "Happy Feet."

Although Karloff has won screen fame through a series of grotesque and evil portrayals, he has one of Hollywood's most pleasing personalities, and is known as a kind, well-mannered Englishman in the film colony. Karloff appears at the Columbia Theatre in Universal's "The Old Dark House," a weird drama of one exciting night.

Playhouse Has Lovely Drama

Jose L. Lesky's first production under the banner of Fox Film, "Zoo in Budapest," opens at the Playhouse Theatre today.

Loretta Young and Gene Raymond are as captivating a pair of lovers as have been seen on the screen in a long time. They unfold the romance of the film with rare simplicity and freshness. The supporting cast, headed by O. P. Heggie is an excellent one. It includes, among others, Wally Albright, Paul Fix, Murray Kinnell, Ruth Warren, Roy Stewart and Frances Rich. Rowland V. Lee did a fine job in direction against a background that is truly unusual.

"Man Against Woman," a new Columbia Picture starring Jack Holt, is the added feature. The story is an exciting adventure romance by Keene Thompson, adapted for the screen by Columbia's ace scenarist, Jo Swerling, and directed by Irving Cummings, who made "The Night Club Lady" and "Attorney for the Defence." Lillian Miles, blonde screen newcomer, steps right into the leading role opposite Holt in one of the most auspicious picture debuts in months.

"GOLD DIGGERS" WILL BE SEEN HERE SHORTLY

One of the unique scenes in the Warner Bros. picture, "Gold Diggers of 1933," which opens at the Capitol Theatre, on Monday, is the song-and-dance number with fifty-four illuminated violins. Girls of the chorus play on these instruments in a gigantic ensemble, the lights being arranged to take the shape of the fiddle and bow, so that the music can be heard and the instruments seen playing the air after the figures of the players are blacked out, giving a startling effect.

"Gold Diggers" is a mammoth musical and dramatic spectacle based on Avery Hopwood's play and directed by Mervyn LeRoy. There is a noted all-star cast which includes Warren William, Joan Blondell, Aline MacMahon, Ruby Keeler, Guy Kibbee, Dick Powell, Ned Sparks, and Ginger Rogers.

Mr. Munson expects to leave for the Old Country about the middle of September.

MAY BREAK FROM UNION

Track and Field Body Thinking of Divorce From Amateur Union

FORT WILLIAM, Aug. 9 (CP).—There is a very strong possibility that track and field may shortly seek a divorce from the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada, and ally forth on its own, according to M. M. Robinson, chairman of the Canadian Olympic committee.

Mr. Robinson, who attended the Dominion track and field championships here last week-end, was present at a meeting of the Olympic committee during which the situation was thoroughly discussed. Others attending were F. J. Mulqueen, Toronto, president of the Olympic committee; J. H. Crocker, London, Ont., president of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada; and W. A. Fry, Drummondville, Ont., vice-president of that body.

Branches of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada, Mr. Robinson said, have become so lax in their efforts in this particular field, track and field is losing the prestige it took up years to build up. A movement toward independence in the East already has been instigated.

Mr. Robinson expressed the firm conviction that the day is not far off when the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada will be solely a parent body with which to affiliate and support in so far as is possible, and is concerned. Possibility of a rift, he said, is augmented by the lack of response to the Dominion championships this year. "Without the splendid entries from Hamilton and Manitoba, he said, the two-day classic would probably have gone down in track history as the sport's most gigantic flop.

arborescent features dominated by the giant two-centuries old Argentine poplar (its advent here still a mystery), and a stately sequoia brought from California more than seventy years ago. In unexpected spots ancient apple trees, part of the pioneer orchard, lent their shade, one sheltering the putting green. An American elm provided a cool spot for the smartly-uniformed Boys' Band, under Bandmaster Green, and from this section of the grounds lively melodies emanated all afternoon.

FORTUNE TELLING
The fine herbaceous border on the north side of the bowling green attracted much notice with its deep frame of hollyhocks, delphiniums, dahlias, verbena, heliotrope, sinningia and other gay blooms. Fortune telling found a suitable setting, one symbol being encoined beneath a weeping willow at the edge of a lily pond, the others in the gloom of a laurel.

On the next terrace, on velvet-smooth grass, pupils of the Atfield Italian School of Music and Dancing gave a charming programme of graceful numbers: A flag dance, by Lona May Atfield and Betsy Newcomb; a vivid hula-hula dance, in Hawaiian costume, by Grace Atfield; a Normandy peasant dance, also in costume, by Una Marshall; a fluttering, butterfly dance, by Grace Atfield, Laura Peaker, Betsy Newcomb, Muriel Marshall and Lona Marie Atfield. The music for these popular numbers was furnished by a piano-accompanist, played by Evelyn Holt.

TEA SERVED
In the sunny shelter of the upper terrace guests gathered for tea, an admirably managed feature directed by Mrs. H. C. Victor MacDowell, assisted by Mrs. R. V. D. Guthrie, Mrs. P. Philip and Mrs. E. W. Darcus, and a bevy of Girl Guides from the Joan of Arc and Lady Douglas corps.

On the lower lawn, near the fortune tellers (Mrs. Bridges, Mrs. Porch and Mrs. Youson), Miss Pitts and Miss Alice Pooley made up and sold delightful little colonial bouquets, with Kitty Hammond and Diana and Pergus MacDowell as "peddlers." On the far side of the bowling green Mrs. T. Leampman had charge of the putting contest, which produced some good scores, the prizes ultimately going to Mrs. H. L. Roberts and Miss Gladys Irving.

BRIDGE PLAYED
In the neighboring grounds of Mr. and Mrs. Morkill, where visitors were especially interested in the rock gardens with their many rare native plants gathered from all over British Columbia, as well as from Eastern Canada and the Olympic Mountains, Mrs. J. A. Rihet had charge of several bridge tables. The principle prizes for this were won by Mrs. B. H. Heisterman and Mrs. W. N. Sheffield, the awards being given by Lady Barnard, Mrs. Lennox Irving, Mrs. Armstrong and Mrs. Rihet. The badminton court nearby was also an attraction.

Mrs. S. P. Hopkins had charge of a popular contest, the ten prizes in which were won as follows: Dr. Liden, Mrs. G. H. Barnard, Mrs. Heisterman, J. Galliford, Miss Agnew, Mrs. M. Herd, Mrs. H. C. Oldfield, Mrs. Macdowell, Miss Morgan and A. M. Langdon.

Mrs. Biggerstaff Wilson, convener of the garden party, and Mr. E. W. Hammond, chairman of committees, were assisted in the counting of the moneys by R. V. D. Guthrie and Alan Morkill.

Queen Has Shorter Dress

THERE were whisperings in English society when Queen Mary appeared at a garden party at Buckingham Palace in a dress that stopped seven inches short of the ground. The innovation caused quite a feminine flutter, as most ladies present wore skirts that swept the grass. Her Majesty is shown in centre, with parasol, at the function, talking with one of her guests. Two of her sons are at the extreme right, front. They are Prince George and the Prince of Wales.

Social and Personal Notes

Tea Hostess
A charming tea hostess yesterday afternoon was Miss Orrie Branford, who entertained at her home, Linden Avenue, in honor of her house guests, Miss Jane Kirkland, of Vancouver, and Miss Charlotte Ward, of Calgary. The tea table was prettily decorated with sweet peas in shades of pink and tall pink tapers in silver holders. Mrs. Keith Dorman and Miss Aileen Cullum presided at the tea urns and were assisted in serving by Miss G. Mercer, Miss Patricia McConnan and Miss Laura Dunsmuir. The guests included Mrs. Keith Dorman, Mrs. T. Jepson, Misses Jane Kirkland, Charlotte Ward, Aila Johnson (Nelson), Patricia Robinson, A. R. Gardley (Vancouver), S. Mrs. J. S. Wisely is visiting here from Staten Island, N.Y. and is a guest at the James Bay Hotel.

Visiting Cousin
Miss Olive Thorne, of Toronto, is visiting her cousin, Mrs. C. E. Swainland, 1377 Hampshire Road.

Wedding at Church Is Impressive
The First United Church was bright with a charming array of gladioli, last night, for the wedding of Mary, youngest daughter of Mrs. M. R. Bishop, Taylor Street, and Mr. John A. Easton, only son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Easton, 1324 Basil Avenue, which was solemnized at 8:30 o'clock. Rev. Gordon Boothroyd officiating. Mr. Jack Smith presided at the organ and as the register was being signed, Miss Dolly Rutledge sang "At Dawning."

The bride was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Mr. W. Hamilton, and looked radiant in a frock of white net made with a close-fitting bodice and a full ruffled skirt. She wore her veil of fine net as a cap with a cluster of orange blossoms over each ear, and carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses, Swansonias, sweet peas, and carnations. Her only attendant was her niece, Miss Mildred Prior, in a pretty frock of pale blue net and a matching picture hat, who carried a bouquet of gladioli, sweet peas, and carnations in shades of pale pink. Mr. Thomas Nute supported the groom and the ushers were Messrs. F. Luff, F. Simmons, and W. Erith.

RECEPTION FOLLOWS
A reception was held after the service at the home of the bride's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. F. Luff, 2712 Belmont Avenue, where the guests were welcomed by Mrs. Bishop, in a gown of beige net and matching hat, both trimmed with touches of blue, and by Mrs. Easton, Sr., who wore a dress of brown georgette and hat and shoes of the same shade.

The bride and groom stood beneath an arch decked with pink roses to receive the congratulations of their friends, and later supper was served from a table centred with the three-tier cake, and arranged with pale pink candles and vases of flowers in shades of pink and white. The bride and groom entered the house to the strains of the wedding march played by the bride's young niece, Miss Dorothy Prior.

After a honeymoon spent motoring in the Western States, for which the bride left in a smart Dejeu model frock of sand trimmer with brown and a matching hat, and a green fox-trimmed overcoat, Mr. and Mrs. Easton will return to Victoria to live.

Garden Party At Esquimalt Is Enjoyable

Gaily decked with flags of every description, streamers and Japanese lanterns, the gardens of Mrs. W. H. Trowsdale, 631 Esquimalt Road, were the scene of a very successful and enjoyable garden party yesterday afternoon by Queen Alexandra Review, No. 1, Women's Benefit Association, under the general co-operation of Miss Annie Reed.

One of the oldest members of the organization, Mrs. H. Wall, opened the affair. She was presented with a beautiful bouquet of flowers by the president, Mrs. Mabel Burnett. Novelties, including a peep into the future, in charge of Mrs. Musson, and house-hoast, conducted by Mrs. Alice Edmonds and Mrs. Lottie Walker, were very popular, while the various stalls did steadily trade right through into the evening. The home-cooking table was managed by Mrs. Winter and Miss Winnie Hunter, while the fancywork was in charge of Mrs. Louis Jarvis, who was assisted by Miss Florence Malcolm. Ice cream was sold by Mr. Robert Trowsdale, and the refreshments were managed by Mrs. Jane Moore. Miss Edmonds added to the enjoyment of the day when she rendered several vocal solos.

Afternoon tea and supper was served under the direction of Mrs. Kathleen Herrington. Mrs. M. Burnett, Mrs. Ada Davis. In the evening a whist party and bridge were held under the supervision of Mr. J. Schmeltz and Mrs. M. Burnett. Refreshments were served at the close of the games. The proceeds from the affair will go towards helping members of the association who are in need.

Member of Noted Family Married

LAKE ROSSEAU, Ont., Aug. 9 (CP).—On the heights above Lake Rosseau, the wedding took place, today, of John David, son of the late Sir John C. Eaton and of Lady Eaton, and Signy Hilda, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Stefansson, of Winnipeg.

Dr. Graham Orchard, the groom's old headmaster at Trinity College

School, Port Hope, conducted the ceremony.

At the appointed hour the wedding march pealed forth from the organ screened by cedars, and the bridal procession came down the aisle which—in tribute to the groom's enthusiasm as a yachtsman—was carpeted in white sail cloth, marked off by ropes and anchors.

Miss Anna Stefansson, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, while Timothy Eaton acted as his brother's groomsmen. Mr. and Mrs. John

Dempsey-Willard Feud in Fade-Out

A FEUD, said to have existed since 1919, when Jack Dempsey battered Jess Willard into insensibility and took his heavyweight laurels away, was publicly ended recently at the Main Street Gymnasium, in Los Angeles, when the two former heavyweight champions met in the centre of the ring and cordially acknowledged each other's greetings. The "referee" (centre) is Jimmy McLarnin, who recently defeated Young Corbett for the welterweight title. Dempsey is shown on the left and Willard on the right.

Security Prices Turn Upward at New York Mart

NEW YORK, Aug. 9 (AP).—Elated by its success yesterday, the stock market lengthened its stride today and bounded over the finish line with a burst of speed.

Gains were registered over the broad front and final prices pushed forward 1 to 5 points. The best quotations were scored near the close. Volume totaled 2,568,750 shares, or more than 1,000,000 above that of yesterday.

Alcohol issues proved to be the most palatable of the list, advances in this group ranging from 1 to 6. A keen appetite for motor shares was also evident, with Chrysler and General Motors conspicuous favorites. Rains and utilities lagged a bit behind the industrials, but turned in a good score, nevertheless.

A firm trend was revealed in commodity markets, too. Wheat advanced 1 to 2-1/2 cents a bushel, and cotton, after being up about $2 per bale, closed from $12.20 to $23.50 higher.

The quiet that has pervaded the bond market for a week, partially broken today when secondary railroad bonds registered a broad advance and were followed somewhat hesitantly by the rest of the domestic list.

Despite the improved tone, volume was little better than in recent sessions, with total sales approximately $11,420,000 per value.

Carriers bonds of speculative flavor followed a familiar pattern in developing buoyancy as shares rose. Low-priced issues jumped 1 to 2 or more points.

United States Government securities were quiet and fairly steady.

Foreign loans did little.

KEEPING IN STEP MENTALLY

You have likely heard the story of the fond mother who on seeing a company of school boys marching by, said that all the children were out of step except her boy. No one blames the mother for loving her boy, thinking he is about right even if he is "different" from others, but it is this very mother care that interferes with the boy's chances of remaining normal like other youngsters.

When the boy gets into trouble with other youngsters the mother considers the other youngsters to be entirely to blame; if the trouble occurs at school then the school or the teacher must be to blame. Some one has spoken of this boy as the "overprotected" boy, and quite rightly states that the parent is at fault and in her anxiety to make things "smooth" for him actually takes away his strength of character. He learns to depend upon the parent for everything, including getting him out of trouble when he is in the wrong.

Unfortunately if this overproduction continues the boy or girl grows into manhood or womanhood and is always looking for support, for a defender, instead of supporting or defending himself. In other words the youngster is "out of step" with life, and only by getting "in step" can the proper mental development occur. You can thus see that if any progress is to be made with the overprotected child, it means that the mother or father should be taught that the youngster must learn to stand on his own feet, make his own progress, take his own defeat, fight his own battles, and suffer his just punishment. No one wants any more war; not a single nation in the world, and

Little Bedtime Stories

Chatterer Offers to Find Prickly Porky

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

Buster Bear wished he had kept his tongue still. Perhaps you know just how it is to say something which you do not intend for other ears to hear. A wagging tongue can make more trouble than any other one thing I know of. As often as not it makes as much trouble for the one who owns it as for others. If all the tongues in the Great World wagged only half as much as they do there would be less than half the trouble in the Great World than there is today.

Buster Bear, angry because of having stepped on one of Prickly Porky's little spears which had dropped from his coat when he had passed that way, had said he would shake Prickly Porky until he had shaken out every last one of those little spears. Now Buster had no idea that anyone was near enough to hear him. When he spoke he didn't really mean what he said. You see Buster Bear has the greatest respect for the thousand little spears which Prickly Porky carries in his coat. What he really meant was, not that he would shake Prickly Porky, but he would like to shake Prickly Porky. You see that is a very different matter.

Unseen by Buster, Chatterer the Red Squirrel had been sitting in a tree just overhead. Of course he had heard every word that Buster said. Now Chatterer the Red Squirrel is very wise in the ways of the Green Forest and of the people who live there. He knew that Buster had not the slightest intention in the world of shaking Prickly Porky. In an instant he saw a chance for making great Big Buster Bear uncomfortable. Yes, sir, he

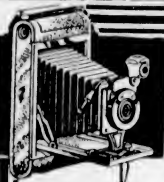

"I tell you what, Buster," said he, "I'll help you find Prickly Porky."

DISPUTES RIGHT TO TRY ACTIONS

Counsel Refuses to Make New Plea Where Cases Started Before Another Magistrate

When the case of Maxine Howard, charged with being the keeper of a disorderly house, was called in the city police court yesterday, Stuart Henderson, her counsel, raised the point that Magistrate Jay had no jurisdiction to try the charge. The information had originally been laid before Acting Magistrate C. J. Prior, and a plea of not guilty was then entered. Mr. Henderson contended that Magistrate Jay could not proceed with the hearing.

The magistrate suggested that the accused might again be given the opportunity to plead, but Mr. Henderson said this could not cure the trouble. He cited the situation that arose in Vancouver when Magistrate Shaw died, and a number of accused persons had to be set free. He said he would not again enter a plea.

C. L. Harrison pointed out that there had been no evidence taken in the case before Mr. Prior.

Mr. Henderson said that the entering of the plea constituted evidence.

The evidence of the police as to the character of the premises was taken, together with what they found upon a visit to the place. The defence offered no evidence.

The court said undoubtedly the evidence showed the place to be a disorderly house, and thereupon imposed a fine of $100 or, in default, two months in jail.

BEER FOR SALE

On a charge of having sold beer in the house, the same objection as to lack of jurisdiction to try the case was raised as over-ruled in turn by the magistrate. The accused was found guilty and fined $300 or three months in jail.

Wellington and Geraldine Maxwell, charged with being inmates, and for whom Mr. Henderson also appeared, offering the same objection, were fined $25 each or one month in jail.

The charges against three others, of being found in the place, were adjourned for a week.

UNITED WORKERS TO CONVENE HERE

A mass endorsement conference of the United Front Party will be held at the Workers' Ex-servicemen's Hall, 564 Yates Street, on Friday, August 11, at 8 p.m. for the purpose of finally ratifying the platform and manifesto which was discussed and presented at the provincial election campaign conference held in Vancouver on July 17 and 18.

At this conference a representative of Victoria was present, and a report will be made at the meeting on Friday as to the result of that provincial conference. There also will come up for discussion a suggestion from the provincial committee regarding the advisability of nominating one candidate instead of the full slate.

All workers and sympathizers are invited to attend and discuss the programme.

What Today Means

"LEO"

If August 10 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9 to 9:30 a.m., from 3:30 to 4:15 p.m., and from 7 to 8:30 p.m. The danger periods are from 12 noon to 1:10 p.m. and from 9:45 to 10:55 p.m.

Influences operating on this date will quite possibly prove enervating; you will not feel like "up to par."

You may find it difficult to reach a decision of any magnitude. People generally will not mingle pleasantly in small social gatherings but will seem to attempt to outdo and out-talk each other. Children will be very much on the minds of their parents.

The child born on this August 10 will not be lacking in good judgment, but will be an unconventional little being, one that will bring embarrassment to his parents on more than one occasion. He will be inclined to talk a great deal and to speak too frankly of personal and family affairs. He will be well liked by everyone and should go far in this life.

If August 10 is the date of your birth, you are probably among those people who always look well ahead and plan what they will do after they have devoted their lives to some so-called useful career. You will probably never get a great deal of pleasure out of your work, but you will work hard and steadily because you believe it is the right thing to do. You will feel that the last years of your life spent in quiet contentment and in doing the few things that you would like to do, will more than compensate for the time previously put in. Moderate success should be yours and you should terminate your career with a tidy little sum put to one side.

You will never startle the world with your ideas, nor will you ever shock the world by your mis-steps. Born on August 10, you will more than likely spend much time in the pursuit of some stimulating hobby. You are very much interested in the company of strangers and you have a way of drawing people out conversationally. You are probably an educated person and one who is extremely well-mannered. The women born on this date are inclined to be a bit affected in both their speech and dress, but often this is due to nervousness. Yours is not a romantic nature, and you will not expect nor require a great deal from your mate in the way of outward affection.
